

Digital Opportunity Traineeships Initiative

What is that?

Digital skills are becoming increasingly important and are now in demand everywhere in the workplace. The acquisition of these competences during a traineeship abroad can be financially supported by Erasmus+. Such so-called Digital Opportunity Traineeships are open to students of all disciplines.

How does this work?

The initiative aims to develop digital skills, such as:

- digital marketing (e.g. social media management, web analysis)
- digital graphic, mechanical or architectural design
- Development of digital applications, design of websites
- Installation, maintenance and administration of IT systems
- Cyber security
- Data analysis
- Programming and training of robots and artificial intelligence

How do I participate?

1. Find a traineeship where you can acquire digital skills. Internships can be found on the platforms erasmusintern and Drop'pin.
2. Apply with your traineeship at the International Office of the University of Kassel for a scholarship: Erasmus+ International Internships.

Where can I do a traineeship?
